Interfaith Works, founded in 1972, is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit agency and a non-sectarian interfaith coalition of more than 165 affiliated congregations of diverse faiths, working together to meet the needs of the poor and homeless in Montgomery County, Md.

Chief Executive Officer Shane Rock joined Interfaith Works following an extensive career in the nonprofit, social service and advocacy worlds. After graduating from law school, he became executive director of Good Neighbor Mission, a homeless shelter in rural Tennessee helping people living in extreme poverty. In the two decades that have followed, Shane's career has encompassed a range of social justice concerns while remaining focused on helping people who lack economic opportunity. Most recently, Shane was director of operations for senior services for the Jewish Social Services Agency in Rockville. He has a bachelor of arts degree in government and philosophy from Oberlin College and a J.D. from Vanderbilt University Law School.

10/27 Claes Ryn

The Political and Economic Effects of the Vanishing American Adult

Claes will talk about political power: Hollywood, media, big corporations that finance senate campaigns that get carve outs, unions, and foreign interests. Public mores and attitudes precede political/economic effect.

11/3 Jim Resnick, Program Manager (Contractor), Senior Outreach & Education, Montgomery County Fire and Rescue Service

Straight Talk About Home Fire Safety: What You Need to Know in Order to Stay Safe

There is a new, Maryland Smoke Alarm Law effective 1/1/2018. What is the law and what does it mean to you? What is this talk that I've heard about 10 year battery smoke alarms? If I live in a house, do I need to get an electrician and wire all of my smoke alarms together? If I live in a condominium do I have to get a 10-year battery smoke alarm? What is "Plan A, Plan B, and Plan C when it comes to escaping a fire in my home? Jim Resnick from the Montgomery County Fire and Rescue Service will provide answers to these and other life-saving questions and concerns.
